

The Rising Tension in Europe for Civil Unrest

Blog/Civil Unrest

Posted Nov 27, 2019 by Martin Armstrong

REGISTER FOR BLOG UPDATE ALERTS

 SUBMIT

BLOG CATEGORIES

Armstrong Economics 101 +Armstrong in the Media +Forecasts +History +Hong Kong*International News +Market Talk*Markets by Sector +Plagues*Products and Services +Q&A*QUESTION: Hello!

More and more people in western Europe are talking about the coming civil war between the Muslims/Arabs and the Europeans. Guillaume Faye has even written a book about it. I personally believe that it will break out between 2025 and 2050 and that it will start in France. Me and my friends are looking for some place to go before it starts. We are looking at eastern Europe. Have your computer anything on this coming civil war?

IR

ANSWER: Economics is at the root of the crisis. In 1844, tensions rose and there were gun battles on the streets in Philadelphia against the Irish Catholics. This occurred in the middle of a depression from the Panic of 1837 with the sovereign debt defaults by states. Religion was involved to some extent, but the argument became that the Irish immigrants were taking the jobs and were willing to work for less.

In this case, the refugees get handouts from the state and then the state raises taxes on the citizens. This still is fueling the tensions and there is indeed a risk of civil conflicts and separatist movements. This is also the period where we should expect more anti-establishment parties rising because people are losing their lifestyles thanks to the career politicians who have created an economic catastrophe.

Categories: Civil Unrest

Tags: Civil Unrest, Europe, Philadelphia Irish Riots

« France Blocks Reports of Protests Against Muslim Population

France & the Uprising »

Uncategorized

Upcoming Events

+

World Events

+

PROMOTIONS

PROMO

Instructional Videos

PROMO

Socrates
